

Government

Signicat is delivering strong authentication and electronic signature solutions to government institutions such as the Norwegian State Educational Loan Fund (Statens Lånekasse for utdanning) and Norway Post. In 2013 the Norwegian State Educational Loan Fund, which receives over 350 000 applications for student loan and scholarships, digitized their signature processes through Signicat. Now 95% of the users digitally sign applications, which has reduced the processing time by 50%.

Signicat has been chosen by the Agency for Public Management and eGovernment in Norway (Difi) as the preferred electronic signature solution.

Digitalizing public services

The world is getting more and more digitalized and people expect high quality self service solutions from the government. Signicat helps governments offer digitized processes through its wide offering of electronic identity and signature methods that is as good or better than that existing in the general market.

Increasing the degree of self service

Our existing customer base care a great deal about user experience. To them a key success factor is to deliver digital services that is based on self-service. These services need to be secure, easy to use, fast and convenient for the end user. Signicat's products can help organizations digitalize through digital identity proofing, strong authentication and electronic signing of documents.

Operational stability

Government solutions often have high and demanding requirements regarding security, privacy and operational stability, conditions well known to Signicat from working with governments and financial institutions. Signicat offers SLAs up to 99.8% and have 24 hour monitoring of all its systems.

SELECTED REFERENCES WITHIN THE GOVERNMENT SECTOR

Signicat is one of the leading providers of electronic identity and electronic signature solutions in Europe. The company, founded in 2007, delivers online trust based services to the public and private sector globally. The solutions are used by banks and financial institutions, insurance companies, government agencies and large corporations as well as small and medium sized businesses.

Signicat specializes in cross-border cloud based electronic identity services and electronic signatures. The company has local presence in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, the Netherlands and UK. These countries are in the forefront in the world with the usage of digital identities and electronic signatures.